

Saturday, April 9th

Some 10 keeners showed up at the clubhouse Saturday, April 9, for what was billed as the "Last, last, final spring ski." Six took the "play it safe" route: the Racing Trails, while the rest followed Derek on the Red, but cutting across on the Orange from junction E to F – with an interesting liquid crossing at lac Pelletier. Fortunately, the Orange had been recently snowshoed and was therefore firmer than might otherwise have been expected. There seemed to be generally a foot or more of snow coverage throughout the areas skied. The day concluded pleasantly with a late lunch on the clubhouse deck – with sun tans in the making!
